Course details	The Certificate IV in Christian Ministry and Theology is delivered via online learning with student support.
What will I learn?	This qualification will provide you with skills and knowledge to strengthen your faith by filling in possible gaps in your Christian life. The course can equally benefit you to volunteer in a variety of church related activities. Through the use of competency-based assessment in a range of settings, the Certificate IV course will give the confidence and abilities to effectively step into foundational leadership roles if desired. Examples of these include assisting/leading youth groups, bible study groups or helping in worship teams.

What sort of training will I do?	Classes are taught online.
How will I be assessed?	This qualification is competency based, which means you must demonstrate the required level of knowledge and skill (competency) on a task prior to advancing to the next task. Competency is gained by providing evidence of what you have been taught. You will carry out various assessments. The course has been designed to be practical based where you demonstrate your skills and knowledge through a variety of assessment procedures including, journals, short questions and answers, role play/scenarios, demonstrations and short essays.
Support	We offer a range of support services to ensure learners are safe and environments are conducive to learning. Where specific learning resources are required, will endeavour to provide access, to ensure learners are not disadvantaged in their learning. Assistance includes the following support: Training and Vocational Support Students may receive training or vocational support from the General Manager or other qualified person. The General Manager monitors the student's progress and intervenes to provide support or support as appropriate, and where needed refers the student on to other qualified person, depending on the nature of the problem. Personal Support Any student showing signs of distress or discomfort is to be approached by the trainer and offer support. Support may take the form of advice, or other qualified person, depending on the nature of the problem. Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander People Courses are developed to improve educational outcomes and employment opportunities for Aboriginal peoples. Some courses can be delivered in a local community. The Principal endeavours to help the participant to start, and provide them with advice and support while working through the course, including; • advice about courses which might be right for the participant • help with the enrolment procedure as well as information about how to contact the Aboriginal Student Support Officer • advice about applying for ABSTUDY • information about support services such as literacy and numeracy programs. Language, Literacy and Numeracy Support Students needing language, literacy and Numeracy (LLN) support are identified on application. In most cases, LLN support can be provided. Where only a low level of support is needed, we may arrange for the student to receive extra-curricula assistance from the trainer or other staff member. Where extensive support is needed, specialised LLN classes may be set up. This will attract a fee. Where an applicant's LLN deficiency will clearly inhibit achievement of learning outcomes and the applicant refuses LLN support, enrolment may be declined.
Delivery Modes	The program and resources are structured for maximum flexibility and is delivery in an online-based learning environment. You can also apply for RPL if you consider you have currency in the above competencies.
